

Riders from a wide area took part in Drayton Valley's horse show held at the West Valley Park Sunday. Some of the hunters are shown at work in the top photos, and in the lower contestants await their turn for another event. List of prize winners was not available for this week's paper, but we expect to have it for the next issue.

Appliance Service Store Now Open

A new Drayton Valley service was instituted this week with the opening of Kamelot Appliance Service Centre. The store, in the former Northern Video location, will specialize in the repair of major appliances.

The new store, a part of the Kamelot operation with headquarters in Edmonton, will be managed by Mr. Harry Easton. Kamelot repair centres are also located at Westlock, Thorsby and Tofield.

Mr. Easton has had many years in the appliance repair field. He is optimistic about the future of the business that he feels will fill a real need in the community.

He will be joined by his wife and two school age daughters in about a month. Two other members of the family are sons working in Edmonton and Calgary.

The family has lived in Sherwood Park for the past 12 years where Mr. Easton has been an active member of the Elks Lodge.

Premier Appoints 22-Man Cabinet

The first Progressive Conservative government in Alberta was sworn in last week as Premier Peter Lougheed named a cabinet of 21 members besides himself.

Alberta's new premier made major changes in portfolios compared to those held by the former Social Credit cabinet, such as splitting education into two separate jobs.

Mr. Lougheed created a new portfolio of federal and inter-governmental affairs and doubled to four the number of ministers without portfolio. There had been two in the outgoing 17-man Social Credit cabinet.

The 43-year-old Calgary lawyer took no portfolio for himself outside of the premiership.

The cabinet lineup is:
* Deputy premier and minister of agriculture - Dr. Hugh Horner of Banff.

* Federal and intergovernmental affairs - Don Getty, Edmonton Whitemud.

* Education and house leader -
Lou Hyndman, Edmonton Glenora

Named to Legislative Committee

Rudolph (Rusty) Zander of Tomahawk, newly elected M.L.A. for Drayton Valley Constituency, has been named to the Legislative Committee on Municipal Financing.

The committee's study will be a comprehensive review of the province's tax revenue and expenditures which could take as long as a year to complete.

Mr. Zander expressed pleasure with his appointment to the committee as he has been particularly concerned with financing and tax structures during his many years on county and municipal district councils.

Other M.L.A.'s in Peter Lougheed's new Conservative government appointed to the committee are Cliff Doane of Innisfail and Roy Farran of Calgary.

PLAN CANVASS

Door to door canvassing will be done in Drayton Valley between September 16th and 25th for the Arthritic and Rheumatism Society. Please give generously where there is HELP -- there is HOPE.

Teacher Addresses Rotary on Ethiopia

Mr. Alfred Lepp, a mathematics teacher at Frank Maddock High School who spent the summer assisting teachers in Ethiopia, recounted his experiences in an address to the Drayton Valley Rotary Club last Wednesday evening.

Mr. Lepp was one of the eight Alberta teachers who volunteered to spend their summer vacation helping teachers in developing countries. They were selected earlier in the year from a large number of applicants to participate in "Project Overseas". Mr. Lepp's summer work was assisting elementary school teachers upgrade and improve teaching methods for science courses at special classes at the university in Addis Ababa.

He informed Rotarians of conditions in the country as well as customs. The teachers had the opportunity on weekends to tour the countryside and a number of interesting slides were included in Mr. Lepp's presentation.

Foreign conditions are not new to Mr. Lepp who previously spent three years teaching in Sarawak, Malaysia, under the auspices of the Canadian International Development Agency.

PLEBISCITE TO SEEK SUNDAY SPORTS ANSWER

At the regular meeting of Town Council on Thursday, September 9th the topic of organized minor sports on Sunday morning was again discussed and it was decided to put the problem before residents during the October 13th municipal election.

Minor sports on Sunday mornings, particularly as it involves arena use during the hockey and skating season, has been a touchy subject for some time with strong support for both sides of the argument.

Council, on several occasions, appeared reluctant to make a decision and the matter was tabled earlier this year. In attempting to solve the problem, the council was faced on one hand, with overcrowding at the arena which prompted Sunday morning skating and hockey practices; and on the other with petitions from citizens; primarily church groups, strongly opposed to organized minor sports which they claimed, kept children out of Sunday School.

Residents will be asked for their opinions in a plebiscite along with the municipal vote on October 13th.

NOMINATIONS CLOSE NOON WEDNESDAY

Nominations will close at noon on Wednesday, September 15th for a number of municipal offices. Election will be held on Wednesday, October 13th.

All elective posts are open this year in accordance with recent changes in the municipal government act. All offices are for a three year term.

Posts to be filled include: Town Council -- mayor and six councillors; Drayton Valley Separate School District -- five trustees; County of Parkland School Committee -- one member; and Drayton Valley Municipal Hospital District -- three members.

Deputy Returning Officer Mrs. G. McMorris said late last week that a few nomination papers had been taken out, but up to that time, none had been returned.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

At the regular meeting of Town Council on Thursday, September 9th, information was read that indicates the town's $15,000 Recreation Facilities Grant has been cleared and should soon be received from the Provincial Government.

Council approved refund of unused portions of business licenses to Mrs. D. Olsen and Sparrow Electric.

Council approved renewal of contract with the dog warden until January 1st, 1972.

Councillor Waugh and E.M.O. Co-ordinator Fred Galvon were appointed as delegates to an E.M.O. seminar at Griesbach Barracks in Edmonton.

A letter from a counselling psychologist suggesting training of local residents for preventive social services was studied at some length by council. This matter had been introduced at public meetings here last winter when it was suggested that town and county governments combine forces in such a program.

Nothing further has been heard from the County of Parkland Council, and it was the feeling of Town Council that such a program was more than the town was prepared to undertake at this time.

Operation of the Centennial Civic Centre for the approaching winter season was discussed at some length, but no action taken on a number of items in this regard until more information is available for the next meeting.

The arena is scheduled to open during the first week in October.

Warburg Wins Ball Tournament

Warburg Buffaloes defeated Mayerthorpe in the final game to win the Labor Day baseball tournament in Drayton Valley.

Seven teams participated including Spruce Grove, Breton, Linaria, Calmar, Drayton Valley, as well as the two finalists.

New M.L.A. Rusty Zander got the tournament underway by pitching the first ball to Mayor Lloyd MacLean. The legislature was well represented with another new M.L.A., Peter Trynchy playing first base for Mayerthorpe.

Extends Thanks

The Cub, Scout and Venturer Group Committee would like to thank Leone McCartney and boys for having the Memorial Fund for the late Ron McCartney donated to the Boy Scouts Association of Drayton Valley. The sum of $476. was donated.

MAGNOLIA NEWS

The community extends sincere sympathy to Dorothy McWillis and her family on the recent passing of her father.

School has started in earnest and most homes are like the "Silent Spring" one reads about. It is absolutely quiet with the children away.

Congratulations go to Mac and Gladys Carlson on the safe arrival of their first baby, Roy, on August 26th at Drayton Valley. He weighed 7 pounds 5 ounces. This makes Mark and Sofie very proud grandparents.

Congratulations are also extended to Virginia and Harry Saunter on the arrival of their second daughter on August 28th. Little Carrie Dawn weighed 7 pounds 4 ounces. She is a sister for Kayan, Orris and Dorothy McWillis are her very happy great-grandparents.

The local men's baseball team played in the tournament at Wabamun on September 5th. They made a good effort and won second prize.

We would like to welcome a new family to the community this week. Linda and Jerry Rasco with their baby son, Christopher. They are formerly of Edmonton and have moved their trailer on to the Alex Negraiff farm. Linda is a sister of Joan Negraiff.

Happy birthday to Christopher Rascoe, who will celebrate his first birthday on September 14th.

Dorothy McWillis has had her sister, Ivy Inouye of Nelson, B. C. visiting her for a short time. During her visit, Dorothy and Ivy went to Mystery Lake to visit with a long-time friend, Mrs. Dorothy Harrison.

Walter Campbell took his family thirty years back into history on a Sunday visit to Mercoal, where he worked in the coalmines in 1941. There is very little left except a vast barren area covered with slack, some empty summer homes and a few old buildings from the mining era, which are similar to those of the standard Western movie.

Vera Hampton received a very pleasant surprise visit from her friend, Margaret McInnes. These two ladies came to Canada approximately the same time.

Re-roofing of the community hall was the topic of a recent Community Club meeting.

Summary Regular Meeting Parkland School Committee

Meeting of the School Committee of the County of Parkland No. 31 held in the county office on Tuesday, September 7. Minutes as recorded by the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer but not yet officially adopted by the School Committee.

Present were Messrs. George Mann, J. W. Tyler, L. N. Miller, R. Zander, R. A. Bailey, Peter Bakker, Ivan Vowk, Don Gylander, Mrs. E. P. Howery and Mrs. A. C. Kritzinger, School Committee Members, also Superintendent of Schools, Mr. M. Holman and Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, A. W. Boychuk.

The meeting was called to order at 10:05 a.m. with the Chairman, Mr. George Mann, in the chair.

It was moved and carried that the minutes of the last meeting be accepted as presented.

Mr. M. Holman gave a brief report on the court hearing held on August 17th to August 19th, inclusive, with regards to the proposed High School in Evansburg and the tuition agreement with the Yellowhead School Division. It was mentioned that the transcripts of the proceedings that have been ordered have not been received as of this date.

It was moved and carried that, following review of the Municipal Inspector's Report, the School Committee accept the recommendation of the County Solicitors and that School Committee members refund any duplicate mileage payments they may have received in 1970 and 1971.

MAINTENANCE STAFF APPOINTMENTS

It was moved and carried that the following School Maintenance Staff appointments be approved:

Mr. R. Berliquette as Head Caretaker of the Drayton Valley Elementary School with duties to commence on September 1, 1971; Mr. Niels Sprokkreeff as Assistant Caretaker at the Spruce Gove old Elementary School with duties to commence on September

1, 1971; Mr. Frank Burton as Head Caretaker of the New Stony Plain Junior High School with duties to commence when school is ready; and Mr. Pete Hort as Carpenter (Spruce Grove Renovations) effective Tuesday, August 24th. DEBENTURE BY-LAWS 14-71, 18-71 and 19-71

The following letter was received from the Deputy Minister of Education regarding the above by-laws:-

"Due to a technical defect in Form 14 of the School Act, used in advertising, the above-mentioned by-laws have been declared invalid by the Local Authorities Board. The defect, as you are aware, was caused by a change in the voting age following assent to a portion of The Age of Majority Act on March 31st and a delay in effecting the appropriate amendment to the form.

The Department, along with the Attorney-General's Department and the Local Authorities Board, has sought, unsuccessfully, to find a remedy without requiring the passage of a new by-law and presenting it to the electorate.

Although the Department regrets the concomitant inconveniences, there appears no choice available to your board but to pass a new by-law and thereafter to use the regular procedures for advising the electorate of its intention to borrow by debenture."

The School Committee was advised that a special meeting was held on Friday, September 3rd and that new by-laws have already been passed.

It was moved and carried that the purchase of the 1971 - 54 passenger school bus and the establishment of the bus route be approved.

SCHOOL BUS OPERATOR'S SEMINAR

It was moved and carried that the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools contained in Clause 11-5 of his report be accepted and that a seminar for school bus operators be scheduled for late fall or early next year.

PROVINCE OF ALBERTA
ALBERTA WOMEN'S BUREAU

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By Kevin Peterson and Don Sellar (Of the Calgary Herald)

Alberta's first Conservative government won't have much time to celebrate its August 30 election victory over Social Credit because political problems are multiplying on the horizon.

Premier Peter Lougheed and his new cabinet are anxious to maintain the momentum which lofted them into power by quickly establishing their style of government.

Because Albertans have changed their government only three times since the province joined Canada in 1905, Mr. Lougheed is short on precedents when it comes to assuming office.

His first tasks are mechanical ones; the hiring of executive assistants, senior secretaries and other personnel; the establishing of day-to-day operational procedures and the outlining of the first Tory legislative program.

There is Mr. Lougheed's goal of "open government" which places a heavy emphasis on citizen involvement, public hearings and televised Legislature sessions as tools for bringing politicians closer to the people.

And there are thorny political issues to be faced, including the unresolved Alberta Government Telephones dispute with Edmonton Telephones over the latter utility's service boundaries, the delicate negotiations with Alberta's jail guards and major forthcoming federal-provincial meetings.

The federal-provincial talks are of prime importance because they affect approximately half of Alberta's $1.2 billion budget. The new government will be charged with responsibility for negotiating medicare, hospitalization and post-secondary education cost-sharing agreements with Ottawa in the coming months, and the forthcoming meetings will be crucial to the future relationship between federal and provincial administrations.

The growing financial squeeze in which provincial governments now find themselves is something Mr. Lougheed will be well aware of when his government begins the decennial review of oil royalty rates next year.

It is possible the Tory government will attempt to improve its revenue position by hiking the royalty rates and softening the blow to the oil industry by simultaneously allowing increased production, but the royalty review process will be complex and challenging.

Mr. Lougheed already has said his first piece of legislation will be a provincial bill to rights, which also could stir debate in the busy months ahead.

The Tories know they have raised expectations across the province in the wake of their election victory. They also know they will be judged on their performance in office -- not on promises made on the hustings.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.

When it reconvened on September 7th, Parliament found itself putting aside an already heavy backlog of work to debate a bill of urgent importance. This was, of course, the legislation designed to preserve jobs in Canada which might be affected by the economic measures taken last month by President Nixon.

Because of grave problems of unemployment and inflation in the United States, the President announced on August 15th the imposition of a levy of 10% on all imports to that country. The obvious intention was to make goods produced in the United States more attractive in price when compared to foreign manufactured goods.

While the main target of the American action may have been Japanese and European imports, the impact of the measures was bound to be greatest on Canada. This is because we sell a greater portion of our exports to the U.S. A. than does any other country.

Canada reacted by attempting to obtain special exemption from the 10% surcharge. The United States replied, quite correctly, that by doing so it would violate a number of international trade agreements.

Having failed to gain exemption, only two alternatives remained for us. Either we could retaliate with a variety of trade measures, or we could take steps to soften the blow to the Canadian economy, hoping that the American surcharges would not be maintained for long.

The second alternative was clearly the only rational choice. If Canada had retaliated and had other countries done the same, the greatest damage would have been suffered by Canada.

This is due to the fact that we rely so heavily on exports to other countries. In fact, on a per capita basis we export more than any other nation. The U.S. exports only two and a half times as many goods as we do, but has a population ten times as great. Japan's exports value only 10% more than Canada's but of course their population is several times greater than ours.

Bearing these facts in mind, the Government decided to give support to those industries most likely to lose export sales to the United States. In doing so it hoped to prevent the loss of jobs that

Food Production Moving Toward Science Fiction Scope

Progress is admirable, but it's possible we are progressing too far and too fast in some areas. One of these, in our opinion, is the unnatural rearing conditions imposed on livestock that is destined for human consumption.

Mass production of chicks which never see the light of day, or enjoy any of the pursuits of normal farm chickens, must border on the inhumane. And what about eating quality? Do they really compare with chickens that scratch around in the dust, chase insects, and generally eat whatever tempts their palates?

Forgetting chickens, progress is now going a step further and an agricultural release received this week heralds the possibility that, "piglets may some day be raised on artificial diets and housed in cages similar to those now used for laying hens".

"The baby pigs would be removed from their mother a few days after birth and put in cages in the dark where temperature, humidity and diets could be carefully controlled. The pigs stay in the containers until they are nine to ten pounds and then gradually weaned to solid feed."

The exploding population and space restrictions no doubt dictate the need for measures to increase production in the most efficient way. But nevertheless a little unreal and a bit hard to accept by those of us who drag our feet, rather than stepping off briskly into the science fiction future.

Smithers Editor Airls Pointed Views on Liquor Ban

September 1st was the day Premier Bennett's ban on tobacco and liquor advertising in the B.C. media became effective. The measure is understandably unpopular with publications that stand to lose advertising revenue and has been receiving the expected response.

The Smithers Interior News, in its issue of September 1st, tied into the province's Social Credit leader in no uncertain terms.

The front page consisted solely of a scroll-type effect with a corner banner in the "News-week" style reading, "NEW IMPROVED ... Now contains no naughty booze ads ... Suitable for small children, maiden aunts and Sacred M.P.'s."

Winding up his front page missile to "Daddy Bennett", the News' editor K. A. Marshall says "Scientists tell us they haven't yet found the 'fountain of youth'. But we in British Columbia can feel mighty proud of our Daddy; he's found a way to turn back the clock."

In an inside Editorial Comment, the News notes that: "He (Bennett) passes legislation that takes away part of our freedom to information, while simultaneously making anyone who objects to it look like a 'pusher of evil'."

"It puts this newspaper in a very awkward position. If we decry the legislation banning tobacco and liquor advertising, it appears that we wish to benefit from possible ill-consequences to others from excessive use. If we ignore it, we give Bennett the go-ahead to ram through even more repressive legislation. We're damned if we do and we're damned if we don't."

And all of this makes us wonder how many British Columbians are looking at what happened just across the border on August 30th. We didn't suffer much from repressive measures under the Sacred reign of recent years although we had our share of earlier "blue" laws. Even so, Albertans decided it was "time for a change" -- many British Columbians are probably beginning to feel the same way.

would almost certainly be the result of that loss of sales. The government is only too well aware of the already high level of unemployment, without the additional difficulties such a loss would present.

CAFETERIA REPORT

Mrs. A. C. Kritzing presented the following report on the operation of the Stony Plain High School Cafeteria:-

"The academic year 1970-71 was the first full year of operation under Miss Letourneau, who started work in January, 1970. It is, therefore, difficult to make a fair comparison with previous years.

From Miss Letourneau's figures a total loss of $742.83 was recorded for the period January-June, 1970. The figure for the period January-June, 1971 is $512.28. The total loss for the year September, 1970 to June 1971 was $842.68. The financial picture is, therefore, improving slowly. To the overall loss for the year must be added the sum of $283.58 holiday pay. The overall deficit for the year is $1,126.26.

I present no conclusions or recommendations."

It was moved and carried that the report on the operation of the cafeteria be accepted for information.

SUB-MITS

FROM THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

There are certain advantages to being in an "Outpost". There are also many disadvantages. One of these is the lack of contact with the other teachers at recess and noon hour. I'd like to apologize for the lack of news from the main building this week. Other than rushing over for needed supplies, I have had very little chance to talk with the rest of the staff.

Perhaps this week the column will suffice with a few stories or incidents that happened to teachers. These are not original here, but no doubt have happened in one form or another.

In a class discussion the teacher asked the pupils how they selected a book to read. One honest lad declared, "I like a book that isn't all clogged up with words."

When the teacher asked for the plural of 'ox' one of the boys eagerly replied "Oxygen".

Teacher: "What is an heiress?"
Pupil: "A lady rabbit."

One of the first-graders had failed to bring in his homework. His excuse: "I stayed at my grandmother's last night, so I couldn't do it."

Teacher: "You could have studied at your grandmother's house."

Child: "But she's too old to be doing first-grade work," he explained.

Studies Attempt to Improve Cattle Tolerance to Parasites

Some cattle can tolerate horn flies better than others, leading scientists to believe that they can discover methods to make cattle more tolerant of parasites.

Studies are currently underway at the Canada Agriculture Research Station at Lethbridge, Alta., to investigate this possibility.

Parasites, such as horn flies, often bother cattle enough to significantly reduce weight gains and profit margins.

Dr. W.O. Haufe, a parasitologist at the Research Station, says that Lethbridge experiments have shown that tolerance for the horn fly does develop in cattle, and that infestations of the pest may not hurt beef production under some environmental conditions.

He says that his tolerance to parasites may develop rapidly under some types of farm management. "We are taking a much closer look at this area," says Dr. Haufe,

"hoping that we will come up with a more complete understanding of parasite tolerance in livestock."

The results of this research could very well be the development of new management techniques which would enable beef producers to greatly reduce the amount and frequency of chemical treatments required for profitable beef production.

Similar research is currently being conducted with ducks at the University of Bristol in England and with sheep at Cornell University in the United States.

Dr. Haufe says the general return to traditional development of biological control methods, and the renewed emphasis on the study of mechanisms that make animals immune to parasitic diseases, has tended to obscure the importance of research into host tolerances of parasites.

At one time immunologists interpreted evidence of parasite tolerance as part of the immunological system. In other words, animals with unusually high levels of infection were considered to be always susceptible individuals in which the immune mechanism was either lacking or had failed to develop.

"Very recent work shows, however, that physiological tolerance is distinct from immunity and the processes that induce resistance," says Dr. Haufe. "The research indicates that the pest and the animal it attacks interact in the development of this tolerance phenomenon."

There is renewed interest in parasite control measures that do not involve the use of synthetic chemical pesticides.

The U.S. department of agriculture reported that by July 27, nearly 1 million horses had been vaccinated in five States of the U.S. to stop the spread of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis. Vaccination of horses in six additional States was expected to begin immediately.

Scientist Claims Farmers Not Contributing to Pollution

LETHBRIDGE -- Chemical fertilizers used by farmers do not contribute to pollution of lakes and streams, says R. A. Milne, a soil scientist with the Canada Agriculture Research Station here.

But the results of studies carried out by Mr. Milne have pointed a finger at soil erosion and liquid runoff from livestock feedlots as factors in the problem.

Chemical fertilizers have been accused of contributing to increased levels of nitrogen and phosphorus in waterways. There nutrients spur growth of aquatic plants, with the result that a lake or stream may eventually become choked with weeds.

Mr. Milne, however, has found the charges to be unfounded.

His finding followed studies of the movement of chemical plant nutrients in the soil and the extent of which nitrogen and phosphorus find their way to surface water and to groundwater.

"The results of the studies show that the movement of these nutrients has not contributed to pollution," he advises.

"Any phosphorus that was not used by the plants was held firmly in the soil and the soluble nitrates were either taken up quickly by the plants or converted to other forms that do not cause pollution."

Soil erosion by wind or water is a big factor in a buildup of nitrogen and phosphorus nutrients in waterways. Sediment, accumulating in the water as a result of erosion, releases nutrients that stimulate growth of the aquatic plants. This type of problem is particularly troublesome in irrigation canals.

Luckily, good management practices can prevent soil erosion.

Effluent from feedlots has been considered a potential pollutant. But this isn't always the case. In the studies, the soil and groundwater under the near feedlots were found to have a high phosphorus and nitrogen content. But rarely did these nutrients spread in the ground for a distance of more than 400 feet. Mr. Milne attributes this to adsorption of the phosphorus by the soil and the transformation of nitrates into less soluble forms of nitrogen.

The danger from feedlots arises when liquids are allowed to run off into streams, temporarily raising their levels of nitrogen and phosphorus. To prevent this, the runoff should be diverted away from a stream and allowed to seep into the soil. In winter-time, a storage basin should be used to hold the runoff until it can be disposed of when the ground thaws.

Manure from feedlots can be spread in fields for disposal without incurring a risk of pollution. Mr. Milne reports. In the studies, it was found that even in heavily manured fields the accumulation of nutrients in the soil and ground water was negligible.

Mine Land to be Seeded to Forage

Approximately 250 acres of land has been contoured and will be seeded to forage crops this year at the Whitewood strip mine, near Lake Wabamun, says Harry Laleune, Mine Supervisor for Calgary Power Ltd.

The Whitewood mine provides the 7,000 ton daily coal diet for the company's thermal generating plant on Lake Wabamun, 45 miles west of Edmonton.

Mr. Laleune said total land reclaimed thus far is more than 450 acres. The reclamation is a continual program to improve land that was once muskeg and swamp, transforming it to rolling green hills and meadows.

The program illustrates what can be done with reclamation after strip mining has been completed. The reclaiming program is closely supervised by government officials.

The Mine Supervisor for Calgary Power has as one of his responsibilities the transformation of the jagged piles of soil and man-made cuts in the earth to the contoured landscape that will later yield knee-deep stands of alfalfa.

The company's mining operation involves stripping off a layer of overburden (about 50 feet deep) and depositing it in giant earth hills. The coal, usually available in five seams, is stripped from the surface and used to fire the boilers at the Wabamun generating station. When draglines, graders and coal haulers have left, the rugged terrain seems beyond repair -- huge scars and man-made mountains of overburden are evidence of man's earlier presence.

"The reclamation process includes packing the muskeg between the overburden piles," explains Mr. Laleune. "It dries out and the land is in better shape for supporting vegetation."

"The cost of reclaiming this land is greater than the original purchase price to the company."

The total cost of reclamation is absorbed by Calgary Power. Mr. Laleune says 'corporate conscience' tops the list of reasons for the reclamation, but the company is also conscious of public and legal demands for land conservation.

"Our work is frustrating in a way," says Mr. Laleune. "The public complains of the great piles of earth they can see along Highway 16 west of Edmonton, but they fail to notice the 450 acres that have already been reclaimed back from the highway."

The best crop that 'takes' easily to the land is alfalfa. Several fodder crops were used in initial experiments with district agriculturalists in 1963, but alfalfa quickly proved to be the crop that flourished. The residue coal from the mining operation is free of impurities, and does not harm the soil.

The reclamation will keep pace over the years with the mining operation.

"It's a long slow process. We haven't got a magic wand that will transform our overburden piles into the green meadows overnight," says Mr. Laleune, "but we're steadily working on it."

The thermal plant uses about 2,400,000 tons of coal annually. This generating station, along with Sundance, provides the energy to handle the power grid.

Dental Clinics Prove Successful

Dental extraction clinics continued successfully at Lindale and Breton over the past three months, the Leduc-Strathcona Health Unit reports.

The report emphasizes that children receiving treatment at these clinics are carefully selected by the dental hygiene staff "and consideration is generally given to those children whose parents for financial or geographic reasons cannot obtain emergency treatment elsewhere. "Only teeth that cannot be saved are considered for extraction," the report notes.

All parents and children attending these clinics are given dental health counselling. In the presence of acute infection antibiotics are usually prescribed and the children are re-appointed the following week for extraction.

"This service has proved a valuable addition to the dental program and will be continued," the report states.

HART CANTELON

Readers wishing to write to Mr. Cantelon are invited to do so. All letters to be forwarded to Hart Cantelon Counselling Services Ltd., 1600 Cambridge Building, Edmonton. Please include a stamped self-addressed envelope to ensure a reply.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

My father seems to go through quite frequent periods of nervous tension. During these times, he makes life very miserable for my mother. He shows bad temper, and a nasty disposition which often appears temporary. Outside of the home, he is well-liked by everyone. Because of this inconsistency in his behaviour, my mother has become very resentful and would like me to speak to him about this mistreatment. I feel that I cannot do this because our relationship has been so good throughout the years and I don't want to interfere. She accuses me of taking dad's part. I have suggested that my mother talk to dad. But she doesn't want to worry him about this. I know that my brother would be very fair, yet I hesitate to involve him against my mother's will.

Dear Daughter:

If I were you, I would talk it over with your brother in confidence. Point out the problem as you have seen it. See, if he is willing to talk to your father about it. If he is, then, approach your mother with the thought that your brother would be willing to talk to her first and then perhaps she'd be willing to have him take the next step and talk with your father. If your brother closes the door on any action, then, I think you must do something yourself, even though you are afraid of jeopardizing your happy relationship with Dad. Indeed, fathers generally would rather talk with a daughter over family matters than the son. So it may be that you're the one to carry the ball after all. Don't just stand by and let the situation deteriorate to the point that both your parents have an unhappy life for the rest of their years.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

Our youngest son graduates from Grade XII this year. Soon there will be just myself and my husband left at home. Because the household duties are no longer so demanding, I got myself a job. This has helped a lot in my adjustment to possible retired life. My husband also finds the pace slowing down with fewer chores and duties around the home. He enjoys daytime naps, and a certain amount of TV and reading. But he doesn't have any club or sporting interest. He seems now to be devoting more attention than ever to the enjoyment of sex. I get tense over this continuous demand. We have so much to be thankful for. Our family is a good one and there is no other friction between us. We have all the money we need, and I hate to feel that our marriage might go on the rocks over this one problem.

Dear Wife:

A man in his fifties may find that the sex-drive is fairly high. Whereas, a wife in a similar age bracket is likely in the change-of-life and may find her drive at its lowest ebb so medical science tells us. If this happens to two people like yourselves, it requires real understanding to work this tension through. I would suggest that you both go to your family doctor. He will be able to help or at least make a referral for you, where help can be made available. If your husband refuses to take this step, then look around and see if there isn't some friend who can involve him in some day-to-day duty or responsibility which will give your husband some new purpose for the day. No man in his mid-fifties ought to give up on the possibility of making some contribution toward the many needy situations around all of us. Your minister or priest might have a helpful suggestion leading to some such responsibility.

BUCK CREEK NEWS

Miss Barbara Hogarth, who was successful in being chosen over 300 other applicants for a two-year tuition scholarship left Edmonton the 6th at 3:00 p.m. She would arrive in London about mid night our time then by train on to Glamorgan, South Wales to begin school that day.

$610,744 Collected from Deserting Husbands

"Many husbands walk out on their families," said Raymond Speaker, former Alberta Minister of the Department of Health and Social Development, "but in Alberta the maintenance and recovery branch of my department makes sure that wherever possible they contribute towards the support of their families who are being helped by public funds.

During the past fiscal year, $610,744.19 was collected from deserting husbands. This money was returned to the people of Alberta to offset the amount of assistance given to their wives and children. The branch also arranged for husbands to pay $533,246.44 directly to their families. This, of course, cut down on the amount of assistance given through the government."

"Fathers of children born out of wedlock," he added, "also cannot walk away from their financial responsibilities. Any unmarried mother, whether receiving financial help from the government or not, may ask the department to get in touch with the father of their child to have him pay towards her reasonable expenses during confinement and the care of the child until reaching maturity. If receiving help from the government, she is urged to take action to have the father help with her support. Last year, $399,979.33 was paid by putative fathers.

Even moving to Australia did not save one man from making payments. There are reciprocal agreements with many countries and Australia is one of them"

Mr. Speaker stated in closing, "From these and other recovery sources, $1,007,441.98 was returned to the province during the past year."

of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Raymond and Joanne of Rimbey, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Moller of Edmonton were all weekend visitors at the Simpson and Safronovich homes.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Trenchuck in the death of her brother. He was one of the four men killed when the planes collided at Pine Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Norman of Sherwood Park visited Norma Mac Donald recently.

Mrs. Norma Malin and family attended a family reunion held at Aspen Beach on Gull Lake, Labor Day weekend. There were more than 50 members of the family in attendance ranging in age from 2 months to 82 years, gathering from distant Alberta and B. C. points. Some members had not seen each other for more than thirty years. The day ended with everyone gathering at Rimbey for a dance. Everyone agreed it had been a joyful occasion and resolved to do it again next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stec and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hatt of Edmonton spent the weekend at the Gordon Steffenson home.

Mrs. Al Bara and family spent the weekend visiting with relatives and friends at Camrose.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Rosell spent a pleasant week visiting Mrs. Rosell's folks at Fernie. B.C.

While they were away, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rosell and family of Edmonton stayed at the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, Louise and Ramona of Ferintosh visited the Whittaker home on Sunday.

The community extends sympathy to the Bevan's family in the death of Wilfred Bevan of Breton.

Mrs. Gladys Stec spent most of last week in hospital for an appendectomy.

There was a good turn out for the Bingo Friday night but no one won the jackpot. It is now worth $110.00. That would be a nice bit of change to take home for some lucky person.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Regenwetter of Thompson, Manitoba are the proud parents of a son, born August 29th. This makes Mr. and Mrs. Ben Regenwetter the proud grandparents of two granddaughters and one grandson in a month. How about that! Mrs. Regenwetter said baby Michelle is home from hospital and just fine after staying in a couple days having her formula adjusted.

The community picnic was held last Sunday. There were the usual games and sports for all. The boys hard ball team won their game against Breton, 27 to 6. Along with the free ice cream for the children, everyone had a good time.

Seeks Payment To Farmers

Dobson Lea, President of Uniform has called for an adequately-funded federal program of direct payments to farmers affected by the U.S. surcharge on imports.

In a statement made Thursday in Ottawa, he dismissed the federal government's $80 million aid to industry package as being of no use to Canada farmers and further described it as a "prime example of government's continuing disregard for the economic problems faced by primary producers of food."

Mr. Lea, who is attending meetings of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture in the federal capital also said the government's plan to study the situation to see what aid can be given under the Agricultural Stabilization Act is not likely to counter the effect of the U.S. economic measure.

"It is not a question of what aid can be given; it is a matter of what aid is needed by Canadian farmers whose economic position has declined seriously over the past several years even though the industry's increase in efficiency has outstripped that of any other industry in this country," stated Mr. Lea.

A federal agricultural scientist has discovered how a new pesticide works to kill diseases caused by fungi.

The scientist, Dr. G. A. White, conducted experiments with the new pesticide, Vitavax, at the London Research Institute.

His research pinpoints the location where Vitavax works and explains how the fungicide destroys the fungus.

It is being used as a seed dressing to fight smut diseases.

Vitavax was recently introduced in the brand name pesticide Vitaflow to replace fungicides containing mercury.

A new durham wheat named Wascana has been developed at the Canada department of agriculture's Region Research Station. Wascana may replace Stewart 63 and Pelissier. Three advantages of Wascana over Stewart are: considerably shorter straw, two days earlier maturity and higher yields.

Group Committee Names Officers

A meeting of the Cub, Scout and Venturer Group Committee was held September 9th in the Amoco Hall. An election of officers took place. The following people were elected:

President, Bruce Boles; Secretary, Diella Duperron; Treasurer, Jean Westland; Finance Committee, Emile Gill; Equipment, Sig Moltzen; Transportation, Ken Ben, Assistant, Joe Vowk; Publicity, Barrie Mundle; Badges, Bob Braybrook.

The next meeting will be held Monday, September 20th at 8:00 p.m. in the Scout Hall. All interested parents are requested to attend.

says
John Hansen

"Royal Bank's Farmplan is exactly that — a credit plan for farmers who want to operate more efficiently, more profitably. It's a 'package' plan that adapts to your constantly changing financial needs and supplies you with operating capital — with all the convenience of one-source service.

So if you're buying new equipment, or breeding stock, or putting up new buildings, or renovating old ones and need some help, come on in and see us at the Royal Bank. Chances are that Farmplan can take care of the problem — and save you time and money."

GAINFORD NEWS

Mrs. Strynka of Edmonton was a weekend visitor with Mrs. Kay Panchuk, while her daughter and son-in-law went on to Jasper.

I went for some lovely sweet peas from Mrs. Panchuk's garden and did you know we have grapes growing in Gainford. Mrs. Panchuk has a vine climbing up the south side of her house and there actually are bunches of grapes. Mrs. Panchuk said the vine is about four years in growth.

Birthday topic came up in our conversation, so Mrs. Panchuk should be wished many happy returns in this month of September.

Our fishermen, Mr. Lawley, Mr. McNamee and Mrs. Davies who went north of Edson to where the Berland River joins the Athabasca River for a such super fish; caught enough for one breakfast.

While at home in Lake Isle, the McEachern children visiting here with their mother Shirley at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. McLachlan were catching fish every day.

Mrs. Esther Strachan and family of Edson visited the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Millar and Mr. and Mrs. D. Strachan on Sunday, September 5th.

Last week I told you about the Boris Walaschuk's and Jim Millars going to the Walter Woods Wholesale Fall Show. This week they both got surprizes by mail, received door prizes, etc. that were given during the day. Mrs. Agnes Millar received a twenty piece place setting of Duralux dishes; and Boris Walaschuk representing Spruce Lumber Co. received a radio and a wrench set.

Mr. Hugh McLachlan is in the Drayton Valley Hospital. I hear today that he is feeling better so we hope he will soon be home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown have purchased the property of Mr. Leo Pilkins. Leo is not very well many days, so expects to go to a Senior Citizens Home by fall before snow comes.

When frost comes, fall is not far behind. We nearly had frost at our place this week 34° one morning.

Mrs. Woodley of Wildwood has come to live with Mr. Lawley and myself for awhile. She hopes to also go to a Senior Citizens Home for this winter. Companionship of someone their own age is what they are seeking.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lenz and children had a happy holiday weekend at Jasper.

And Mr. and Mrs. Michael Greaney and family drove to Blue River, for the holiday weekend to visit her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Red Wildeman.

It was reported to me that there will be play school for the youngsters of Gainford and Seba Beach Communities on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:00 a.m. to noon. Place hasn't actually been found yet but for more information contact Mrs. Lorraine Greaney 797-2135 or Mrs. Jenny Hatto 797-3896.

Playschool Proposed

A playschool could be established in the Evansburg and Entwistle districts this fall. Concerned parents met at the Village of Entwistle office on July 20th to discuss the possibility of establishing a playschool for five year olds in the district. Response was very favorable and a working committee was established to look after the details of leadership and facilities. A suitable leader for playschool must be found. A person need not have any special training to lead the playschool but must have an interest in children. The leader will be paid according to the number of days and playschool runs. The leader must attend a leadership session, sponsored by the Parkland Recreation Council this fall. The local Recreation Boards are accepting applications for the position. These may be sent to Evansburg Recreation Board, c/o N. Asplet, Evansburg or to Entwistle Recreation Board, c/o Mrs. Sandra Blades, Box 160, Evansburg.

A new publication "Fitting Pants and Jumpsuits" is now available from district home economists.

Yea the crop doth look bountiful and the good Lord willing, our bins will runneth over.

A few things should be considered when preparing a bin for storage - to prevent fungal growth and avoid providing a place for grain insects to start breeding.

1. Repairing any leaks in the bins usually carried out but many do not thoroughly remove old grain and dust from the walls.

2. If insects are present, spray with an insecticide to eliminate them. eg. - 1 pint malathion per 2 gallons of water at rate of 1 gallon per 1000 feet a week before filling.

3. Clean up spilled grain around bins. If your permanent storage will not accomodate your crop, several ideas have been explored for temporary storage. These include: squares or rings of bales; snow fencing and paper; plywood rings; or plank bins are used by bulk fertilizer dealers - no nails needed.

Maybe some of the above suggestions will apply to your situation.
